

About Gillian Bryck:

Gillian Bryck is a valued member of the Jersey Shore Arts Center community who brings enthusiasm, creativity, and a strong appreciation for the arts. The last 25 years, Ms. Bryck has directed children's theater at Howell South and currently Howell PAL. She has contributed to programs and activities serving local youth and families. Her experience working within the community and her commitment to creating positive opportunities for others complement JSAC's mission of bringing people together through arts, culture, education, and community engagement.